

Moving on Body Heat

Moving on When Maxine Jennison splits up with her girlfriend-Emma-she is down and upset. Finding out that Emma had been unfaithful makes Max question everything. When she returns home, her housemate-Lainie is there for support. She provided Max a shoulder to cry on and during a drunken moment, reveals that she has been attracted to her for the whole two years they have known each other. The two women share a passionate kiss before Max retreats, confused and shaken. With Emma trying desperately to get Max back, Max has a decision to make. Should she go back to the girlfriend who has betrayed?

Should she take a chance on Lainie and see what else is between them aside from a passionate kiss? Find out in Moving on. Body Heat When Ally Jenkins decides to take a short break away in an idyllic rural cabin, she has no idea what adventures await her. When she arrives, only one cabin is uninhabited-a woman who she drives past upon arrival. The two exchange a smile and Ally finds herself instantly attracted to the gorgeous woman. When night falls, Ally is shocked when a power cut effects all electricity in her cabin. It is a freezing cold February night, with forecasts of snow. Panicked, she heads down to the other cabin to find out what they can do. Ally meets Laurie-the woman she saw earlier in the day. Laurie invites her in so they can sit the night out together. Forced together on the freezing night, their only option for warmth is body heat; something that leads to more than they both bargained for. When morning arrives and they face the consequences of the night before, Ally and Laurie must make some decisions. Was this a holiday fling or could it be more? Find out in Body Heat.
